

MEDIA RELEASE – for immediate release.

So you think you are psychic?

An established medium and animal communicator, who was once called the 'pint-sized thunder from down under' by The New York Times, Amanda De Warren is coming to Mt Tamborine to show others how to discover their own psychic abilities.

A remarkable invite is extended to those who want to truly be inspired at Amanda De Warren's two-day Soul Rejuvenating Retreat at Cedar Creek Lodges in the tranquil surrounds of Mt Tamborine 2 to 4 September 2011.

Ms De Warren is one of Australia's best known mediums or afterlife channellers and animal communicators. A person with the psychic ability to connect people to their loved ones who have passed away and to communicator to animals alive, missing and passed away.

"I am blessed to share my gift to help and change people's lives and help them to tap into their own psychic powers," Ms De Warren said.

"It will be a rewarding escape for anyone wanting to really discover their own healing powers, chakras, seichim, spirit connections and meditation."

Ms De Warren is sharing her years of experience she has gained at the retreat to teach others how to achieve a peaceful life and develop their own psychic abilities.

The Two Day Soul Rejuvenating Retreat is one of a series of events in 2011 being held across the country starting 18 August 2011. Other events include:

- Messages From Beyond Show
